Terms and conditions of participation

The Red Dot Award: Product Design 2024 is open to industrially manufactured products that were or will be launched between 1 January 2022 and 1 June 2024.

One-off products and design concepts cannot be entered for the competition.

Applications are possible during the registration phases shown on the right. Entry fees depend on the registration period in which registration takes place. Completion of the registration constitutes agreement to the General Terms and Conditions.

Form of entry

Please submit an actual, functional product so that the jury can assess not only function, but also other aspects live and on site such as haptics, the materials used, workmanship and ergonomics. Exceptions can be made for very large and difficult to move equipment and machines as well as submissions in the purely digital category "Interior Design". These entries can be evaluated on the basis of digital images and videos. Please note that you are liable for any import duties and shipment costs. Should your product be shipped from a country outside the EU, it must be placed under the customs procedure „release for free circulation" and delivered according to the rules of the Incoterm DDP (Delivery Duty Paid). Further details on this can be found here.

Multiple entries

The same product can be registered for several categories. Each entry must be registered individually. Furthermore, each registration requires submission of a separate product. Exceptions are made for submissions to the "Smart Products" and "Innovative Products" metacategories. In this case, there is no need to provide an additional copy of the product.

There are three registration phases:

- Early Bird: 4 September 2023 to 29 September 2023
- Regular: 30 September 2023 to 15 December 2023
- Latecomer: 16 December 2023 to 12 January 2024

Young Professionals Application Day

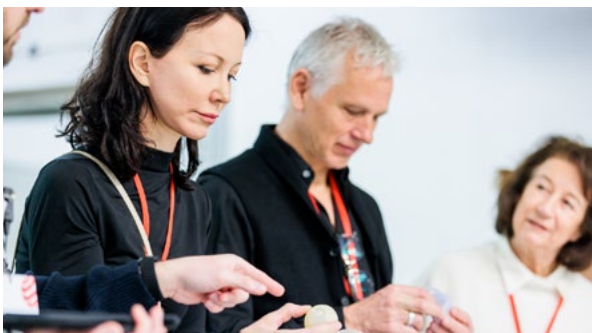

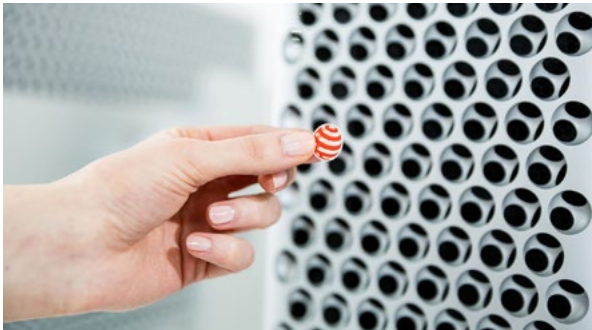

On 6 December 2023, designers who qualified or graduated in the last five years have the opportunity of applying for one of 50 registration places that are free of charge. Should they win an award, the Winner Package Basic is also free of charge.

Evaluation process

In March 2024, the products that have been entered for the competition will be assessed by an international jury which consists of 40 designers, design professors and specialist journalists from around the world. As every product must be submitted in its original form, every entry is tested, discussed and evaluated on an individual basis.

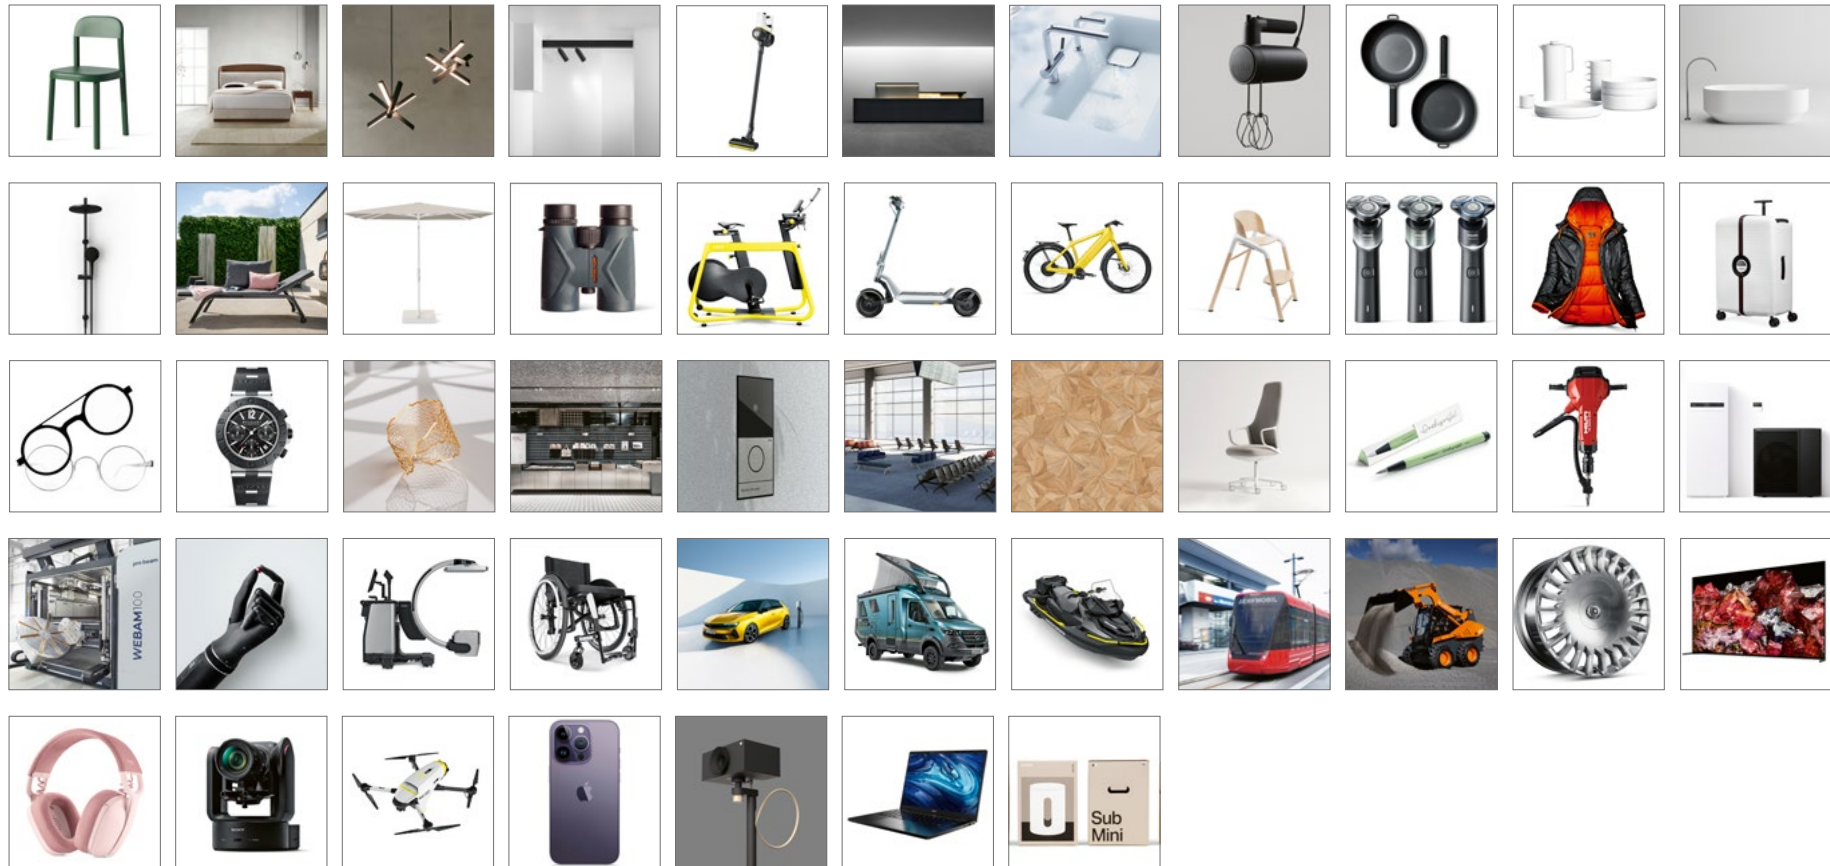

Judging criteria

- Degree of innovation
- Ergonomics
- Product periphery
- Functionality
- Durability
- Self-explanatory quality
- Formal quality
- Ecological compatibility
- Symbolic and emotional content

Categories

There are 51 categories for you to choose from when entering your product in the competition. These cover the entire product range. You can find a detailed overview of the product categories here.

Metacategories "Smart Products" and "Innovative Products"

Once you have registered your products in one of the 51 categories, you can also register them for one of the two metacategories "Smart Products" or "Innovative Products".

Evaluation of specific product aspects

During the jury session, every product will be evaluated holistically. In a second pass, the assessment will examine specific aspects. For smart products, the focus will be on interaction design, interconnectedness and the system as a whole. When it comes to innovative designs, the experts will pay particular attention to the degree of innovation which can reveal itself in the form of technical improvements, a novel approach to form and also in the use of new materials or a revolutionary slant on product use.

Customised Red Dot winner label

Award-winning products in these categories will receive a customised Red Dot winner label which clearly communicates the main focus of the award.

Product series

Product series whose individual components share the same design language can also be entered for the competition. Please note that the product series must be clearly identified as such on the online registration form through the addition of the word "series" in the section for product type.

Product lines and ranges are differentiated and defined as follows in the Red Dot Award: Product Design:

Product lines

Product lines are product series that differ only in their size, colour or material – for example, smart phones with various display sizes or table lamps in different colours.

Special rules for delivery and presentation

Where product lines are concerned, it is sufficient if you send us one example from the series. You can illustrate the different versions and particular details with the help of additional digital material (images, videos, PDFs).

Product family

The term product family refers to products that complement each other at the time of sale. That would, for example, include a bathroom furniture range consisting of a washbasin, toilet and bath.

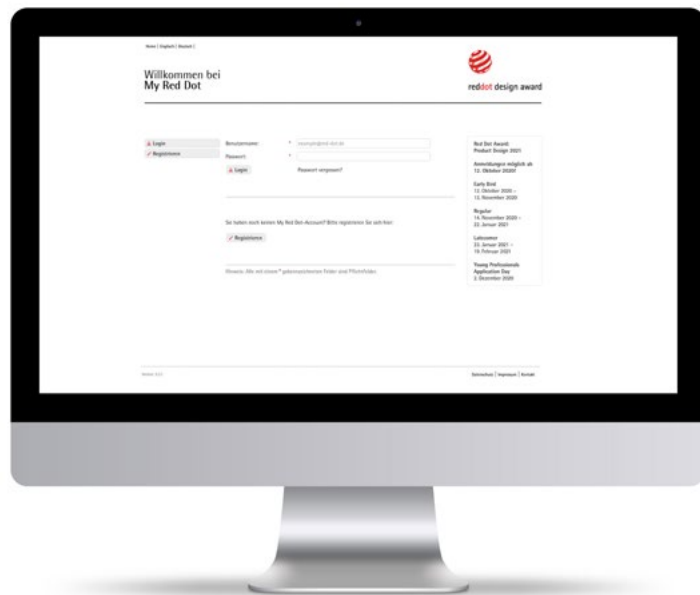

Special rules for delivery and presentation

In the case of product families, you should submit a representative selection of a maximum of four products for evaluation. If the range consists of more than four elements, you may also use additional digital material in order to provide a comprehensive overview of the entire product family.

The My Red Dot portal

You can only register your product online via the My Red Dot portal. If you do not yet have an account, you can register for one on the site with your email address. If you already have an account, simply log in with your email address and your password. At the top of the page, there is an option to select the competition for which you want to enter your product or project. Select "Red Dot Award: Product Design" and then click on "Register product" in the navigation pane on the left-hand side. Follow the steps set out in the digital registration form.

We will communicate with you primarily via email. It is therefore vital that you provide a current personal email address so that you can receive important documents such as the invoice, confirmation of registration and the notification of results without any issues. Please furthermore ensure that our emails do not land in your spam folder or are blocked by your mail server.

i Please note: Should you not receive our emails, please add the @red-dot.de domain as a "secure sender" in your email account set-up.

PI code – the Product Identification Code

Example: 01-01234-2024PD

At the start of every registration, a personal PI code (Product Identification Code) is generated. This code is the unique identification number for your submission. Please always quote this PI code in correspondence to enable easier and faster processing of your enquiry. You can view your PI code/s at any time in the product overview section in your My Red Dot account. Once the registration process has been completed, you will be given a ready-made PI code label to identify your product. To find out how to label your entry correctly, please see the section "Preparing your entry for shipment".

The registration process step-by-step

In order to register a product for the Red Dot Award: Product Design, you must provide information on the product, the manufacturer and the designer that can be used for the jury presentation and potentially also for publication if you obtain an award. You also need to select in what form and with what additional materials and/or documentation the product will be presented to the jury. The registration is considered complete once payment of the entry fees has been made. A detailed overview of the information and materials/documentation required can be found in the following pages.

Product

You must provide the following information under the "product" tab:

Product name

Please give the product name in English, optionally also in German.

Product type

This is where you need to enter the product type in English, e.g. "Suitcase". If you are submitting a product series, it should be mentioned here, e.g. "Suitcase series". You also have the option of naming the product type in German.

Year of market launch

In accordance with the terms and conditions of entry, you may select the years 2022, 2023 or 2024.

Category and subcategory

The next step is to select the category under which you would like your product to be evaluated. You also have to choose a suitable subcategory. Should your product not correspond to any of the named subcategories, please just select "Other" at this point.

Presentation

Under the "Presentation" tab, please indicate how your product will be presented to the jury.

For participation in the Red Dot Award: Product Design, we recommend the product presentation in a hybrid form. This means that you provide us with the original product and also upload digital presentation materials to present your product in the best possible way.

Submission format

This is where you indicate in what format you will provide the product for evaluation. Submission of an original product is the best way to ensure an optimum presentation to the jury. In exceptional cases, we will accept a market-ready prototype or digital presentation materials for the jury session.

Size of presentation

At this point, you specify the size of the product or the physical materials to be presented. Precise dimensions (height, width, depth) in millimetres are required to ensure we can plan sufficient presentation space for your product.

Please note: Presentations that take up more than 3 m² of space will automatically incur an additional fee of 700 euros plus VAT for oversized submissions. If you are submitting an oversized product, please send in a dimensioned assembly plan for approval beforehand to logistics@red-dot.de.

Additional digital material

In addition to your original submission, please upload at least 3 product images here.

Additional digital material can help to explain the function and special features of products in greater detail. To support your original product entry, you can upload material such as videos, images or product presentations that show your entry in use.

The submission of additional digital material is compulsory when entering product series. This is the only way for them to be presented to the jury to their full extent.

We expressly recommend this for submissions in the following categories: "Industrial Equipment, Machinery and Automation", "Robotics" and "Medical Devices and Medical Technology" as well as for all products that can only be supplied for evaluation as a prototype.

 Please note: Here you can select whether the materials are to be used exclusively for the jury session or, in case the product is awarded, should also be used for the publication online.

The following file formats are permitted for the submission of digital material:

- Up to 10 images as JPG with maximum 10,1 MB
- Up to 5 videos as MP4 or MPG with maximum 1,4 GB, recommended length: 2 minutes
- Up to 5 PDF file with a maximum of 10 pages and with maximum 54,6 MB, 96 dpi

You can furthermore find information on content and preparation of digital presentation material in our Lookbook.

 Please note: All material will be displayed on an iPad Pro or an iMac. For this purpose, we use a specially programmed presentation interface.

Printing data

Please upload printable product images, preferably with a white background, at this point. Requirements for the image material: 3 images as JPG or TIFF with 300 dpi. For printing in DIN A4 format, the images must have a resolution of at least 2,560 x 1,920 pixels.

Product description

Please provide a detailed description of the product in English and, optionally, also in German. The text should be between 500 and 1,200 characters in length, should highlight aspects of the design as well as the innovation of the product, but should not contain language of a promotional nature.

 Please note: This text will be presented to the jury and will also serve as the basis for publication. In the event of an award Red Dot will revise it editorially in order to maintain a uniform concept for our publications. Examples of these product descriptions and images can be found in the Winners Section at www.red-dot.org.

The presentation material and description can no longer be added to or edited after the registration has been completed. Make sure that all materials are complete and correct before completing the application.

Successful completion of registration

Confirmation of registration

On successful completion of the registration process, you will receive an invoice for the entry fees by email, as well as confirmation of registration and documents for shipping your entry.

Once you have received confirmation of registration, you can begin to prepare your product for shipment in the prescribed timeframes. You will find all the relevant information on the following pages.

 Please note: The registration and the presentation materials can not be modified after completing the registration.

Optional registration for a metacategory

Once you have completed registration in one of the 51 categories, you have the option of also registering the same product for one of the two metacategories "Smart Products" or "Innovative Products" for a fee. You can register it directly on completing registration in the standard category or do so at a later stage before the closing date for entries. Should registration for one of the metacategories be carried out in a later registration phase, the cost for the second registration will be higher.

The presentation to the jury will take place in the same way as during the initial registration. You therefore only need to send us one original of the product that you have registered a second time for one of the metacategories.

Delivery and pick up

Sending the original

Once you have registered your product online for the competition, please send us the physical, fully functional and already assembled product so that the jury can not only evaluate the function of the product live and on site, but also aspects such as haptics, the materials used, workmanship and ergonomics. Please bear in mind the delivery timeframe.

Exceptions

Exceptions will be made for very large or difficult to move equipment and machines as well as submissions in the purely digital category "Interior Design". These entries can be evaluated based on digital image and video material.

Your responsibilities

Participants alone are responsible for the shipment and collection of their submissions. Shipping costs and import duties and/or taxes as well as the cost for transport insurance must be beared by the participant. Shipments from countries outside the EU must be placed under the customs procedure „release for free circulation“ and delivered according to the rules of the Incoterm® DDP (Delivery Duty Paid). Your shipment has to be delivered beyond the first door at the specified address. To ensure a smooth delivery, we recommend using a vehicle with a lifting platform. Possible aids such as forklift trucks, ramps, etc. must be supplied by you. Please also notify your forwarder about this as additional costs may occur that will be charged to you. For identification purposes at the arrival and during the competition, please mark your product with the provided PI code label. Please use suitable packaging which protects your product safely during the entire delivery process and can be re-used in case of a pickup and return to the participant.

We recommend not only taking out a transport insurance for your product, but also an exhibition insurance policy for the duration of the jury process.

For a safe and smooth logistics process, we recommend our cooperation partner Pro Messe Service.

Service of our logistics team

We will accept delivery of your submission and will place it in the best possible position for the judging process. After the evaluation, products that have not won an award will be packed for shipment and prepared for pick up. We will neither set up, assemble or dismantle products. It is not possible for you to set up or dismantle your product yourself. However, please do not hesitate to contact us if this is absolutely necessary.

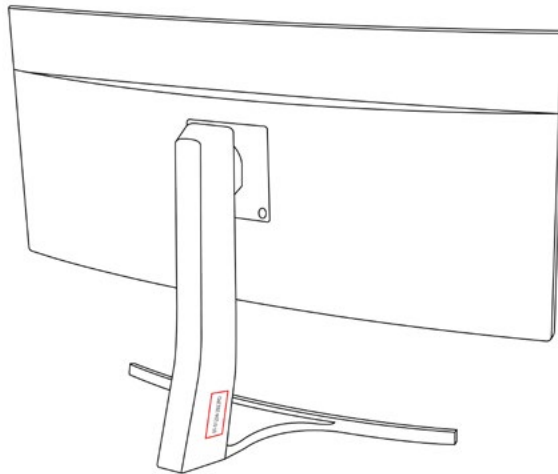

Preparing your submission for shipment

Labelling your entry

To ensure there is no possible room for error when identifying your product, please label it with the PI code label provided, as well as an address label.

PI code label

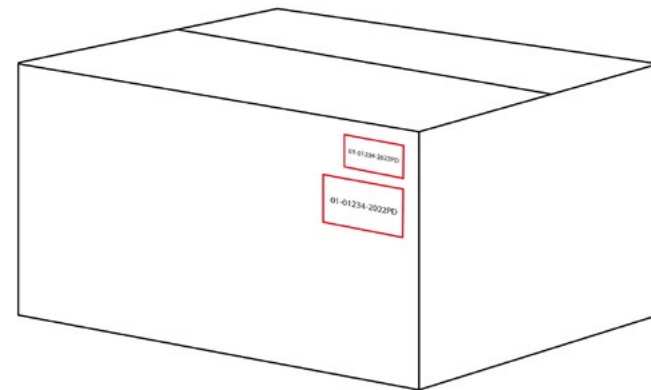

When you receive your registration confirmation by email, you will also be sent a unique PI code label that differs for every product registered. Please attach it to the back of your product, product accessoires and to the packaging used for shipment to ensure clear product identification. Please ensure that the appearance of your product is not affected too much by the label. As far as possible, it should be feasible to remove the label without leaving a residue. This will allow us to display your product optimally at the winners exhibition should it win an award.

Address label

In addition to attaching the PI code label/s to the packaging used for shipment, please also affix the address label provided. You will receive this by email at the same time as the registration confirmation and the PI code label.

Please note that this label is not intended as postage, but just for identification purposes.
